A World Elsewhere Wayne Johnston, 2013 Landish Druken son of a Newfoundland sealing captain turns his back on the family tradition and wishes to become a writer He sets off for Princeton where he is befriended by Van son of the wealthiest man in America and later betrayed by him Returning to St John s he adopts the orphan son of his father s first mate but when poverty strikes there is only one person left to turn to Van Shakespeare in Canada Diana Brydon, Irene Rima

Makaryk, 2002-01-01 Is there a distinctly Canadian Shakespeare What is the status and function of Shakespeare in various locations within the nation at Stratford on CBC radio in regional and university theatres in Canadian drama and popular culture Shakespeare in Canada brings insights from a little explored but extensive archive to contemporary debates about the cultural uses of Shakespeare and what it means to be Canadian Canada s long history of Shakespeare productions and reception including adaptations literary reworkings and parodies is analysed and contextualized within the four sections of the book A timely addition to the growing field that studies the transnational reach of Shakespeare across cultures this collection examines the political and cultural agendas invoked not only by Shakespeare s plays but also by his very name In part a historical and regional survey of Shakespeare in performance adaptation and criticism this is the first work to engage Shakespeare with distinctly Canadian debates addressing nationalism separatism cultural appropriation cultural nationalism feminism and postcolonialism The Red Land to the South James Howard Cox, 2012 The forty years of American Indian literature taken up by James H Cox the decades between 1920 and 1960 have been called politically and intellectually moribund On the contrary Cox identifies a group of American Indian writers who share an interest in the revolutionary potential of the indigenous peoples of Mexico and whose work demonstrates a surprisingly assertive literary politics in the era By contextualizing this group of American Indian authors in the work of their contemporaries Cox reveals how the literary history of this period is far more rich and nuanced than is generally acknowledged The writers he focuses on Todd Downing Choctaw Lynn Riggs Cherokee and D Arcy McNickle Confederated Salish and Kootenai are shown to be on par with writers of the preceding Progressive and the succeeding Red Power and Native American literary renaissance eras Arguing that American Indian literary history of this period actually coheres in exciting ways with the literature of the Native American literary renaissance Cox repudiates the intellectual and political border that has emerged between the two eras

The American Renaissance Reconsidered Walter Benn Michaels, Donald E. Pease, 1989-09 The term American Renaissance designates a period in our nation s history when the literary classics appeared works original enough to mark a beginning for America s literary history But the American Renaissance Donald Pease argues in his introduction does not belong to the nation s secular history so much as it denotes a rebirth from it Independent of the time kept by secular history the American Renaissance keeps what we could call global Renaissance time the sacred time a nation claims to renew when it claims its cultural place as a great nation existing within a world of great nations Providing each nation with the terms for cultural greatness denied to secular history the renaissance is not an occasion occurring within any specific historical time or place so much as it is a moment of cultural achievement that repeatedly demands to be reborn The American Renaissance Reconsidered examines this demand for rebirth in terms other than those ordained by the American Renaissance itself In the seven pieces collected here it is reborn not outside of but within America s secular history as the authors examine anew the period of the American Renaissance and the period in which its history was written Contributing authors are Eric J Sundquist Jane P Tompkins Louis A Renza Jonathan Arac Donald E Pease Walter Benn Michaels and Allen Grossman
