Uncrowned Champion:

The Uncrowned Champion Joey Giambra, Fred Villani, 1979      The Uncrowned Champion Robert S. Miller, 2024-12-26

James Edwards Pamala S. Deane, 2014-10-01 One of Hollywood's most heralded postwar African American movie stars James Edwards catapulted to stardom following his breakout role in Stanley Kramer's Home of the Brave. In his groundbreaking performance as a U.S. soldier experiencing racial prejudice during combat in the South Pacific, Edwards proved that African American actors could handle serious film roles. Edwards performed on radio, television, and theatre and appeared in two dozen or more films, including Stanley Kubrick's breakthrough indie The Killing, John Frankenheimer's The Manchurian Candidate, and Franklin J. Schaffner's Patton. This book tells the story of Edwards' life and career, describing his unlikely climb to fame following a serious wartime injury and detailing how this native of Muncie, Indiana, paved the way for the careers of Sidney Poitier, Harry Belafonte, and other African American stars to follow.

Rocky Marciano Russell Sullivan, 2002-08 This is a book about the life, career, and impact of Rocky Marciano, the legendary heavyweight boxing champion who also stands as a powerful symbol of his times, the early 1950s, or the Age of Simplicity.

Sam Langford Clay Moyle, 2012-12 Standing no more than 5'7" tall, Sam Langford was one of the 20th century's greatest fighters. In 1951, the great featherweight champion Abe Attell was asked if Sugar Ray Robinson was the best of all time, either as a welterweight or middleweight. He named Stanley Ketchel as the greatest welterweight he'd ever seen and said that, as for the middleweights, he'd take Sam Langford, the greatest of them all, at that poundage. Remarkably, the man Attell felt was the greatest middleweight fighter in history fought and defeated many of the leading heavyweight contenders of his day. Over time, he matured physically and grew into a light heavyweight, then began fighting heavyweights on a regular basis, but he was almost always the much smaller of the two combatants. Nat Fleischer, founding editor of The Ring magazine, called Sam one of the hardest punchers of all time and ranked the little man seventh among his personal all-time favorites. Sam was endowed with everything: He possessed strength, agility, cleverness, hitting power, a good thinking cap, and an abundance of courage. He feared no one. But he had the fatal gift of being too good, and that's why he often had to give away weight in early days and make agreements with opponents. Many of those who agreed to fight him, especially of his own race, wanted an assurance that he would be merciful or insisted on a bout of not more than six rounds. Other leading sportswriters of that era had even higher opinions of Sam. Hype Igoe, well-known boxing writer for the New York Journal, proclaimed Sam the greatest fighter pound for pound who ever lived. Joe Williams, respected sports columnist of the New York World Telegram, wrote that Langford was probably the best the ring ever saw, and the great Grantland Rice described Sam as "about the best fighting man I've ever watched." At the time of Sam's induction into the Boxing Hall of Fame in October 1955, he was the only non-champion accorded the honor. Many ring experts considered Sam the greatest pound for pound fighter in the history of boxing. Under different circumstances, he might have been a champion at five different weights: lightweight, welterweight, middleweight light heavyweight and heavyweight Blind and penniless at the end of his life Sam lived quietly in a private nursing home But when one visitor expressed sympathy for his circumstances Sam replied Don t nobody need to feel sorry for old Sam I had plenty of good times I been all over the world I fought maybe 600 fights and every one was a pleasure With 98 photographs and illustrations primarily from private collections Fighting Talk Bob Jones,2013-08-16 From A Low Blow to Went the Distance a fascinating and lively examination of the regular use of terms from the boxing ring in our everyday language Have you ever stopped to notice how often your local newspaper or favourite magazine uses the terms On the Ropes The Gloves Are Off and Knockout Punch How often TV newsreaders will say that a politician has Thrown His hat in the Ring is a Big Hitter is Taking it on the Chin is Down for the Count or has the Killer Instinct Knight of the realm leading businessman colourful and controversial commentator and boxing aficionado Sir Robert Bob Jones certainly has Over a period of years he made careful note of how often terms cropped up and then retraced their etymological origins in boxing history The result is a lively entertaining and thought provoking miscellany of boxing terms that are now part of our everyday English language Some have strayed far from their original meanings others are more frequently in use now than at any other time Jones asks why that might be and his answers are well a knockout The First Black Boxing Champions Colleen Aycock,Mark Scott,2014-01-10 This volume presents fifteen chapters of biography of African American and black champions and challengers of the early prize ring They range from Tom Molineaux a slave who won freedom and fame in the ring in the early 1800s to Joe Gans the first African American world champion to the flamboyant Jack Johnson deemed such a threat to white society that film of his defeat of former champion and Great White Hope Jim Jeffries was banned across much of the country Photographs period drawings cartoons and fight posters enhance the biographies Round by round coverage of select historic fights is included as is a foreword by Hall of Fame boxing announcer Al Bernstein Experience the Golden Age of Boxing Steven Losch,2014-11-21 This book contains my personal written and photographic account of the last golden era of professional boxing which began when six Americans who won medals at the 1976 Olympics in Montreal turned pro and ended in 1983 when Marvin Hagler knocked out Thomas Hearns in three thrilling rounds The real boxing enthusiast will vividly recall that bright shining period in the history of our favorite sport and remember nothing at all about me That is exactly as it should be because this book is about the fighters and not the writer who started to memorialize their exploits with a manual typewriter nondigital camera and miniature tape recorder over a quarter of a century ago London's Roll of Fame City of London (England).
