Demography As an Interdiscipline J. Mayone Stycos, This volume draws together some of the pioneer figures in the social science arena who have been working at the margins of demography and other social sciences These articles show the willingness of the new demography to venture into a variety of other disciplines to better appreciate its own special contributions to the world of interdisciplinary research

Technology and Rural Women Iftikhar Ahmed, 2022-08-30 First published in 1985 Technology and Rural Women synthesizes the fragmented empirical evidence and the wide range of theoretical approaches on the effects of modernisation on women in the developing world Using a multi disciplinary methodology empirical and sectoral overviews and country case studies it draws together the literature to clarify the issues and the policies The book begins with a conceptual overview and analyses the applicability of traditional theories of technological change and impact on gender based distributional questions It proceeds to compare the African and Asian experience examines the African situation regionally and then as a set of four country case studies The authors find that the imperfections of rural factor markets have contributed to women s concentration in labour intensive sectors marked by low productivity and low returns Biases in the agrarian structure and the extension services are largely responsible for the Institutionalisation of discrimination against women Finally the volume identifies the social economic and technical constraints to the diffusion of technologies relevant to rural women s tasks In the final chapter the book s analysis is further refined and extended so that its conclusions to both theory and policy making are clearly brought out and areas of future research identified This book is an essential read for students and scholars of labour economics women s studies and economics in general

Participation, Development and Social Structure Bazlul M. Karim,1994-04-26 M Bazlul Karim surveys the problems and prospects of participatory development involving the primarily rural poor in developing countries The case study focuses exclusively on Bangladesh with considerable emphasis on theoretical and comparative analysis as well The author uses Weberian notion of social stratification as the theoretical guidance in examining the nature of inequalities in wealth status and power These stratification variables are examined in depth in regard to various types of participation participation in development programs social participation and political participation
