Educational Evaluation María Ortiz, Claudia Rubio, 2009 There are two common purposes in educational evaluation which are at times in conflict with one another Educational institutions usually require evaluation data to demonstrate effectiveness to funders and other stakeholders and to provide a measure of performance for marketing purposes Educational evaluation is also a professional activity that individual educators need to undertake if they intend to continuously review and enhance the learning they are endeavouring to facilitate This book presents new research on issues of vital importance to this field

Child Development Within Culturally Structured Environments: Construction of psychological processes in interpersonal communication Jaan Valsiner, 1988

Empirical Approaches to Social Representations Glynis Marie Breakwell, David V. Canter, 1993 A long awaited and critical review of a key topic this book shows how different empirical approaches to the study of social representations are viable and can be complementary Empirical examples of the analysis of particular social representations from museums to new technology are included The ten chapters in the first half of the book present the key arguments concerning the relationship between the theory and methods The second half looks at a wide variety of research topics Of central concern to all the topics are the circumstances under which one can be certain of having described a social representation The answer lies in the use of multivariate statistical analysis the use of which is clearly explained

Collaborative Creativity Dorothy Miell, Karen Littleton, 2004 The contributors to this volume adopt a socio cultural approach to understanding collaborative creativity across a wide range of domains such as music composition business school based creative writing and art fashion design theatre production and web based academic collaborations Central to the socio cultural approach to creativity is the recognition that it is a fundamentally social process It thus follows that if we are to understand and characterize human creativity we need to examine the cultural institutional and interpersonal contexts that support and sustain such activity We also need to understand how cultural tools and technologies resource collaborative creativity The volume offers a distinctive and valuable contribution to this growing field of scholarship by presenting new empirical findings reviews and critiques of existing literature together with suggestions for how this field should develop
