Healing Trauma Guide Stories:

Departure Stories Elisa Bernick, 2022-10-04 We weren't religious per se. The most frequent mention of God in our house was my mother yelling "Goddammit!" Elisa Bernick grew up different: i.e. Jewish in the white Christian suburb of New Hope, Minnesota, during the 1960s and early 1970s. At the center of her world was her mother, Arlene, who was a foul-mouthed, red-headed suburban Samson who ultimately shook the walls of their family until it collapsed. Poignant and provocative, Departure Stories peers through the broader lens of Minnesota's recent history to reveal an intergenerational journey through trauma that unraveled the Bernick family and many others. Deftly interweaving reporting, archival material, memoir, jokes, scrapbook fragments, personal commentary, and one very special Waikiki Meatballs recipe, Bernick explores how the invisible baggage of place and memory, Minnesota's uniquely antisemitic history, and the cultural shifts of feminism and changing marital expectations contributed to her family's eventual implosion. Departure Stories Betty Crocker Made Matzoh Balls and other lies is a personal exploration of erasure, immigrants, and exiles that examines the ways departures from places, families, and memory have far-reaching effects.

Working with Trauma-Exposed Children and Adolescents Joanna Pozzulo, Craig Bennell, 2018-12-07 Far too often, children and youth experience trauma from rare events such as mass shootings, terrorism attacks, and school lockdowns to very common occurrences such as bullying, exposure to drugs and alcohol, or various mental health issues. They can experience these events both directly and indirectly from surfing the internet, watching television, or through their friends. Our children spend a large portion of their day at school interacting with other students, teachers, and school personnel where these topics are raised and discussed. This edited volume addresses how our teachers and school personnel can help students deal with these potentially traumatic events to reach the most positive possible outcomes. This collection brings together leading experts, including academics and professionals working in the field, to provide the most current, evidence-based practices on how to help students who may have experienced or witnessed trauma. It presents research and advice on how to respond to traumatic events regarding bullying, drugs, and alcohol, sexual abuse, mental health, lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and queer (LGBTQ) safety, stranger danger, childhood disruptive behaviors, school shootings, and lockdowns, and terrorism. It also includes a chapter focused on how to implement a school safety program. Schools cannot deal with these issues alone; effective strategies must engage family members and the broader community. Hence, the collection includes a chapter on how schools can partner with families and the communities they reside in to bring about positive change. All this work pays close attention to cultural and religious sensitivity, socio-economic variabilities, diversity issues, and developmental stages.

Reid,2007 The Trauma Survivor's Guide to Healing Travis Jessop,2020-05-14 I understand the magnitude of damage left behind in the aftermath of trauma Not only through my years of coaching trauma survivors but because I too am a survivor of unimaginable trauma A few years ago I watched my 3 year old son die in an auto accident just days after losing my Dad to cancer Shortly after losing my son I found myself homeless and beyond broke I desperately needed help from somebody who not only understood trauma but had survived and HEALED after experiencing trauma I needed help and I didn't know where else to turn. So I began weekly therapy sessions. After thousands of dollars and many years of meeting with different counselors I was diagnosed with PTSD. The diagnosis was great at least now I had a name for the beast in my head but I was still not feeling the peace I was desperately seeking. So I began my quest to heal from PTSD on my own so I could get control over my mind and emotions and create a new life for myself. My life after trauma I know from personal experience that trauma can destroy everything you value. It can leave you broke mentally, financially, and spiritually. It destroys friendships and relationships. The very things you once placed so much value on no longer matter. After years of studying trauma and PTSD I began to coach other trauma survivors and I discovered that we all seem to have a common theme in the way our brains and bodies react when they try to process the trauma and damage that has taken place. I made a promise to myself that when I had healed from trauma that I would help others heal from their traumas so I created a simple step by step guide in the pages of this short book called The Trauma Survivor's Guide To Healing A Practice Beyond Cultural Humility Claudia Grauf-Grounds, Tina Sellers, Scott A. Edwards, Hee-Sun Cheon, Don Macdonald, Shawn Whitney, Peter Rivera, 2020-02-27. A Practice Beyond Cultural Humility offers specific guidance to support students and practitioners in providing on going culturally attuned professional care. The book introduces a multicultural diversity training model named the ORCA Stance an intentional practice which brings together four core components: Openness, Respect, Curiosity, and Accountability. Drawing from an array of influences it showcases work with common clinical populations in a variety of contexts from private practice to international organizations. Each clinical chapter offers a brief review of information relevant to the population discussed followed by a case study using the ORCA Stance and a summary of recommended best practices. In each case the practice of the ORCA Stance is shown to allow relationships to become more culturally sensitive and therefore more effective. A Practice Beyond Cultural Humility provides practical examples, research, and wisdom that can be applied in day to day clinical work and will be valuable reading for a wide range of mental health students and clinicians who seek to continue their professional development.
