Structures Of Feeling

Herman Dooyeweerd

Structures Of Feeling:

Structures of Feeling Devika Sharma, Frederik Tygstrup, 2015-03-05 Raymond Williams coined the notion structure of feeling in the 1970s to facilitate a historical understanding of affective elements of consciousness and relationships Since then the need to understand emotions moods and atmospheres as historical and social phenomena has only become more acute in an era of social networking ubiquitous media and a public sphere permeated by commodities and advertisement culture Concomitantly affect studies have become one of the most thriving branches of contemporary humanities and social sciences This volume explores the significance of the study of affectivity for already thriving fields of cultural analysis such as media studies memory studies gender studies and cultural studies at large The volume is divided into four sections The first part Producing Affect brings together contributions which explore some of the ways in which new media works to produce and intensify affectivity The essays making up the second part Affective Pasts explore the significance of affect to the ways we remember commemorate and in other ways get hold of things in our recent and not so recent past or fail to do so The essays engage the affective production of presence in contexts such as 9 11 the emotional culture of the eighteenth century and literary auto fiction The third part Affective Thinking examines various concepts theories and forms of thinking not so much to show how the thinking in question may inform the field of affect studies but rather in order to draw attention to the way in which these modes of thinking are themselves already attuned to matters of affect New social relations and ways of being in a networked world are the common themes of the essays in the final part of the volume Circulating Affect

Fascism, the War, and Structures of Feeling in Italy, 1943-1945 Simonetta Falasca-Zamponi, 2023 By bringing to life the cultural imaginaries and practices of the past Fascism the War and Structures of Feeling in Italy 1943 1945 raises ostensibly intractable questions on the epochal impact of what often appears as inconsequential the typically unseen and seemingly banal power of everyday experiences Raymond Williams and Structures of Feeling ,2026-07-15 Metamorphosis - Structures of Cultural Transformations Jürgen Schläeger, 2005 A Theory of Feelings Agnes Heller, 2009-02-16 A Theory of Feelings examines the problem of human feelings widely understood from phenomenological analytic and historical perspectives It begins with an analysis of drives and affects and pursues the nature of feeling itself in all of its variability through a close study of the distinctive categories of emotions emotional dispositions orientive feelings and the passions As such the starting point of the analysis entails an examination of the characteristics of human involvement or our ways of being in the world Building upon this assessment of the conditions of human involvement the philosophical history and emotional economy characteristic of modern relationships is treated and the nature of expression social division suffering and responsibility is evaluated in light of the theory of feeling presented here The book is recommended to anyone interested in philosophy psychology sociology and cognitive science Environment & Planning A. ,1991 “The” Philosophical Review ,1898 Communications and Cultural Analysis Michael Warren, 1992-08-30 This book explores how culture functions and intersects with religious groups particularly Christians It explores the way electronic communications especially film and television shape our world of meaning Using the theories of British thinker Raymond Williams as his framework Warren focuses on the actual process by which versions of reality are produced the production of signification He also draws on the ideas of Paulo Freire pointing out that cultural agency happens when individuals decide to exercise some judgment and control over the kinds of cultural material they will accept or resist If culture is a signifying system says Warren then religion is too Contrasting values from the wider culture create dilemmas for those trying to follow a religious life Choices either mirror the wider culture or reflect a culture of resistance Warren seeks to help the reader develop the skills of cultural analysis by paying attention to the images that support culture examining the life structures that support culture and paying attention to how any particular aspect of culture is produced Beyond all this however the author calls for a stance of resistance to all that violates human dignity and unity all the aspects of culture that persons with high religious ideals cannot accept

Structures of Feeling Therese Anne Cox,2020 G Ballard to architects like Alison and Peter Smithson made human the effects of modern architecture s ideologies and designs critiqued and often proposed its boldest solutions and failures and made architecture a public issue Ultimately this dissertation investigates how the complex social and political forces of the era a dynamic cultural formation Raymond Williams has called structures of feeling became animated both through postwar architecture s physical structures and the diverse forms of writing these buildings stimulated into being

The Text of Casuistry in the Renaissance Lowell Gallagher,1989 Theatre in Theory 1900-2000 David Krasner,2008 Featuring the writings of Wilde Brecht T S Eliot and Tennessee Williams among many others this book considers theatrical aesthetics dramatic criticism and performance theory to help students teachers and practitioners to think critically about the nature of theatre

Sentenced to Everyday Life Lesley Johnson,Justine Lloyd,2004-11 The history of the housewife is a complicated and uneasy narrative rife with contradictions tensions and unanswered questions In response to this Sentenced to Everyday Life marks an important cross generational moment in feminism Challenging our previous understandings of what constitutes the housewife figure this book tugs at a critical issue still unresolved in the contemporary world what is the relationship between women and the home And why are women so reluctant to call themselves housewives Drawing on research and evidence surrounding the housewife figure of the 1940s and 1950s Johnson and Lloyd address the question of why the housewife has been such a problematic figure in feminist debates since World War II Starting with an exploration of why the housewife of the 1940s became associated with drudgery this book covers such topics as the ways in which magazines and advertising attempted to articulate an innate connection between women and the domestic sphere while later films of the 1950s explored the constantly shifting boundaries between social family and individual desires and constraints for women in the home Johnson and Lloyd also examine how the home has been a site of boredom and what happens to the balance between work and family in the modern world In moving into contemporary debates the authors explore the uneasy tension between the construction of the modern self and women s efforts to transcend the domestic sphere By situating their examination in a still unresolved contemporary topic Johnson and Lloyd offer us both a backward glance and a forward looking perspective into domesticity and the modern self
