

St. Anthony's Fire

The symptoms (but not the cause of the symptoms) were well documented during the Middle Ages.

- It was at this time that it came to be called Holy Fire and later St. Anthony's Fire.
- Holy Fire because it caused burning sensations at the extremities from gangrenous ergotism,
- St. Anthony's fire because hospitals were set up, which were dedicated to Saint Anthony, to take care of patients with the disease.
