CONDITIONS OF ENTRY AND SERVICE IN THE ROYAL AIR FORCE VOLUNTEER RESERVE

2. QUALIFICATIONS FOR ENLISTMENT.—A recruit may be accepted for enlistment in the Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve provided

(a) he is within the age limits—

Trade men 18-42.

Non-trade men 18-38.

(These are standard age limits, but may be modified from time to time.)

(b) he is suitable for an existing vacancy in a trade appropriate to his civil employment.

(c) he is not a naval or army recruit.

(d) if in a reserved occupation his application is approved by the Ministry of Labour and National Service.

(e) his medical grade is that appropriate to the trade.

Period of service.—All recruits will be enlisted for the duration of the present emergency in the Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve. Final acceptance of all men enlisting in the Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve is subject to the approval of the Air Officer-in-Charge of Records.

Vacancies.—Vacancies are subject to the requirements of the Service and vary from time to time. Where recruits are accepted for training they cannot in all cases be entered immediately, as training courses commence at varying dates. Accepted candidates should not therefore give up their civil employment until they have actually been called up for service.

Mastering in trades.—Skilled Men.—Trade men who are able to pass a trade test for the trade for which they are accepted are accepted in the appropriate trade group in the classification of aircraftman, 2nd class, with the rate of pay for those group and classification. After completing the requisite course and such other training necessary they are reclassified according to the standard attained.

Semi-skilled men.—In certain trades (in groups II, III, IV, V, and M.) men who have some technical experience or experience in a corresponding civilian trade are assessed for trade training. Only men with a good education who are likely to assimilate the course of instruction are accepted. They are entered in the classification aircraftman 2nd class in group V and while under training receive the pay for that group and classification. On successfully completing training they receive the rate of pay appropriate to the group and classification for which they qualify.

Unskilled Men.—Recruits are entered as aircraftman, group V, in the classification of aircraftman 2nd class. They are employed on non-essential duties at stations. Subsequent trade training cannot be guaranteed, but from time to time opportunities occur for efficient and suitable recruits to be specially selected for training in a trade or for special duties in group V.

Aircraft Crews.—The conditions of entry and service for airmen entered for training as pilot, air observer or wireless operator (air gunner) are given in A.M. Pamphlet 90.

Re-mastering.—Airmen in groups II-V are eligible, subject to vacancies, for re-mastering to a more highly skilled trade for which they can qualify by their own efforts without undergoing training.

Re-classification.—Airmen in groups I to IV, in the trades marked † in group V and in group M, are eligible for re-classification (i.e., to aircraftman 1st class or to leading aircraftman) as soon as they have attained the required standard of efficiency. Re-classifications are: aircraftman 1st class, aircraftman 1st class and leading aircraftman. Other airmen in group V are normally reclassified by recommendation subject to vacancies.

Promotion.—Advancement to N.C.O. and Warrant rank is made to fill establishment vacancies. Opportunities also occur for airmen to be recommended for appointment to commissions.

Selection for air crew training.—Opportunity exists for airmen to be recommended for training as pilot, air observer, or wireless operator (air gunner).

3. PAY AND ALLOWANCES.—The authorized rates of pay and allowances and the conditions of issue are as laid down from time to time in King's Regulations and Air Component Instructions. The following rates of pay and allowances are those ruling at the time of the issue of this leaflet. Pay is payable for seven days a week, including holidays. Airmen also receive free accommodation, food and clothing, and medical attendance. Cash allowances in lieu of ration in kind (including leave rates of ration allowance when available) are credited to airmen through the pay ledger.

The Raf Trade Defence 1919-1945:

The RAF and Trade Defence 1919-1945 John Buckley, 1995 The Royal Air Force John Buckley, Paul Beaver, 2018-06-22
In 1918 the Royal Air Force became the first major independent air force in the world Formed to serve a strategic need in the most intensive war that Britain had then fought the RAF continued in the inter war era to play a key role in the political and diplomatic world and in defending the Empire During the Second World War the RAF was pivotal in defending Britain from invasion in the Battle of Britain and then in leading the assault on the Axis powers most notably through the contentious bomber offensive against Germany In the post war world the RAF adapted and developed into a force to meet the needs of the United Kingdom during the Cold War the retreat from Empire and most recently in the move to coalition warfare against low intensity threats all against a backdrop of diminishing resources and shifting priorities This is the story of the RAF over the first century of its existence how it has confronted the many challenges and threats it has faced from the Luftwaffe in 1940 through the spectre of nuclear holocaust in the Cold War to the fight against terrorism in the 21st century and how it has contributed to the defence of the United Kingdom throughout that period Technologies of Power Michael Thad Allen, Gabrielle Hecht, 2001-05-25 This collection explores how technologies become forms of power how people embed their authority in technological systems and how the machines and the knowledge that make up technical systems strengthen or reshape social political and cultural power The authors suggest ways in which a more nuanced investigation of technology s complex history can enrich our understanding of the changing meanings of modernity They consider the relationship among the state expertise and authority the construction of national identity changes in the structure and distribution of labor political ideology and industrial development and political practices during the Cold War The essays show how insight into the technological aspects of such broad processes can help synthesize material and cultural methods of inquiry and how reframing technology s past in broader historical terms can suggest new directions for science and technology studies The essays were written in honor of Thomas Parke Hughes and Agatha Chipley Hughes whose spirit of inquiry they seek to continue Contributors Janet Abbate Michael Thad Allen W Bernard Carlson Gabrielle Hecht Erik P Rau Eric Schatzberg Amy Slaton John Staudenmaier Edmund N Todd Hans Weinberger The British Labour Government and the Greek Civil War, 1945-1949 Thanasis D. impact as a coercive tool This volume examines the theory and practice of air power from its earliest inception The contributors have been drawn from academia and the military and represent some of the world's leading proponents on the subject All significant eras on air power employment are examined some are evidently turning points while others represent continuous development Perhaps more importantly the book highlights the areas that could be considered to be significant and invites the reader to enter the debate as to whether it constitutes a continuum a turning point or indeed a revolution

War in the Modern World since 1815 Jeremy Black,2013-10-11 Conflict is central to human history It is often the cause course and consequence of social cultural and political change Military history therefore has to be more than a technical analysis of armed conflict War in the Modern World since 1815 addresses war as a cultural phenomenon discusses its meaning in different societies and explores the various contexts of military action

Neither Art, Nor Science Canadian Defence Academy,2007 Britain, Germany and the Battle of the Atlantic Dennis Haslop,2013-11-07 The length scale and intensity of the Battle of the Atlantic led the British and German navies to make substantial changes to their organisation strategy and tactics In this book Dennis Haslop examines the pivotal lessons learned and how these helped to determine the outcome of the Battle of the Atlantic Convoy War He questions how well adapted the two organisations were to learn from the conflict and how effective they were in identifying problems and producing remedies Based on the in depth analysis of British and German primary sources this study provides an innovative basis against which to assess the German and British approach to changing warfare and provides important new insights into aspects of convoy warfare in particular the virtually unknown subject of German Operational Research

From Theodore Roosevelt to FDR Daniela Rossini,1995 The essays in this book explore aspects of the conflict between isolationism and internationalism in American foreign policy formulation during the first forty years of the present century the period in which the foreign policy of the United States came of age Americans showed a marked degree of uneasiness in adjusting to the potentialities and dangers of the new position of the United States on the international scene A growing feeling of insecurity seized the general public leading it from the bold self confidence of the turn of the century to the quasi hysteria of the Cold War era Over the period considered we see at work sometimes in extreme ways two possible reactions to the solicitations coming in from abroad a stubborn will to go back to nineteenth century isolation and conversely an effort to master the course of events with new tools of international cooperation
