Tale Ends:

Playing the Canterbury Tales Andrew Higl, 2016-04-22 Playing the Canterbury Tales addresses the additions continuations and reordering of the Canterbury Tales found in the manuscripts and early printed editions of the Tales Many modern editions present a specific set of tales in a specific order and often leave out an entire corpus of continuations and additions Andrew Higl makes a case for understanding the additions and changes to Chaucer's original open and fragmented work by thinking of them as distinct interactive moves in a game similar to the storytelling game the pilgrims play Using examples and theories from new media studies Higl demonstrates that the Tales are best viewed as an interactive fiction reshaped by active readers Readers participated in the ongoing creation and production of the tales by adding new text and rearranging existing text and through this textual transmission they introduced new social and literary meaning to the work This theoretical model and the boundaries between the canonical and apocryphal texts are explored in six case studies the spurious prologues of the Wife of Bath's Tale John Lydgate's influence on the Tales the Northumberland manuscript the ploughman character and the Cook's Tale The Canterbury Tales are a more dynamic and unstable literary work than usually encountered in a modern critical edition

Paradox, Aphorism and Desire in Novalis and Derrida Clare Kennedy, 2008 Building on recent investigations into affinities between early German Romanticism and French post structuralism this study brings together the work of Jacques Derrida with the writings of one of early Romanticism's most important theorists Friedrich von Hardenberg 1772-1801 better known as Novalis In contrast to recent criticism which traces the historical path from Romanticism to modern theory in broad strokes this book undertakes comparative readings of Novalis and Derrida's texts on literature and philosophy The book focuses on the significance both writers accord to paradox and argues that readings which are attuned to paradox can better appreciate the proximity of Romanticism and post structuralism As well as their affirmation of paradox the texts of Novalis and Derrida testify to a profound respect for the Other and the close readings of selected texts reveal remarkable similarities in their thinking on literature philosophy and representation and on the intricate interrelation between language identity and desire

CHAPTER 6 Law Enforcement and Police

This chapter encompasses a variety of scales that refer to law enforcement or police agencies. Unfortunately in the case of many scales these terms are used simply with the assumption that the respondents understand the concepts and use them in the same way as researchers. In other cases however specific policing functions are identified and described. As noted in Chapter 3 a standard order of scale presentation is followed. First the attitudes scales are presented followed by the behavior ratings, personality measures, milieu ratings, prediction measures and finally the very broad category of description. After the reviews are completed within each subcategory other scales in that category are listed. See Chapter 2 for a description of the criteria that were used in deciding upon whether a scale would be reviewed or simply listed. Listed scales are presented by title and bibliographic reference followed by a very brief description.
