Post-Apocalyptic Patriarchy Carlen Lavigne, 2018-09-26 Twenty first century American television series such as Revolution Falling Skies The Last Ship and The Walking Dead have depicted a variety of doomsday scenarios nuclear cataclysm rogue artificial intelligence pandemic alien invasion or zombie uprising These scenarios speak to longstanding societal anxieties and contemporary calamities like 9 11 or the avian flu epidemic Questions about post apocalyptic television abound whose voices are represented What tomorrows are they most afraid of What does this tell us about the world we live in today The author analyzes these speculative futures in terms of gender race and sexuality revealing the fears and ambitions of a patriarchy in flux as exemplified by the return to a mythical American frontier where the white male hero fights for survival protects his family and crafts a new world order based on the old

The Transformative Power of Literature and Narrative: Promoting Positive Change Corinna Assmann, Jan Rupp, Christine Schwanecke, 2023-01-16 Narrative plays a central role for individual and collective lives this insight has arguably only grown at a time of multiple social and cultural challenges in the 21st century The present volume aims to actualize and further substantiate the case for literature and narrative taking inspiration from Vera N nning s eminent scholarship over the past decades Engaging with her formative interdisciplinary work the volume seeks to explore potentials of change through the transformative power of literature and narrative to be harnessed by individuals and groups as agents of positive change in today s world The book is located at the intersection of cognitive and cultural narratology and is concerned with the way literature affects individuals how it works at an intersubjective level enabling communication and community and how it furthers social and cultural change

Narrating the Mesh Marco Caracciolo, 2021-02-26 A hierarchical model of human societies relations with the natural world is at the root of today s climate crisis Narrating the Mesh contends that narrative form is instrumental in countering this ideology Drawing inspiration from Timothy Morton s concept of the mesh as a metaphor for the human nonhuman relationship in the face of climate change Marco Caracciolo investigates how narratives in genres such as the novel and the short story employ formal devices to effectively channel the entanglement of human communities and nonhuman phenomena How can narrative undermine linearity in order to reject notions of unlimited technological progress and economic growth What does it mean to say that nonhuman materials and processes from contaminated landscapes to natural evolution can become characters in stories And conversely how can narrative trace the rising awareness of climate change in the thick of human characters mental activities These are some of the questions Narrating the Mesh addresses by engaging with contemporary works by Ted Chiang Emily St John Mandel Richard Powers Jeff VanderMeer Jeanette Winterson and many others Entering interdisciplinary debates on narrative and the Anthropocene this book explores how stories can bridge the gap between scientific models of the climate and the human scale world of everyday experience powerfully illustrating the complexity of the ecological crisis at multiple levels
