Methodological Problems with the Academic Sources of Popular Psychology Robert Ausch,2016-02-19

Methodological Problems with the Academic Sources of Popular Psychology Context Inference and Measurementexamines the relationship between academic and popular psychology from a critical perspective with a focus on issues of methodology The monograph traces the path from ideas in reputable popular psychology back to the original academic research tradition from which the claims were generated It also addresses the conceptual and methodological controversies with respect to the original research typically ignored or played down in popular writing This book covers a range of topics including the question of universal biases in judgment resurgent notions of fast thinking and a cognitive unconscious the psychology of happiness and other positive psychologies the effects of parenting on child outcomes and more general issues related to psychological tests and measures The methodological problems that emerge include problems with generalizing from specific experimental conditions highly biased sampling lack of replication of findings lack of shared referents across subfields even different authors as well as confusion around basic statistical and mathematical issues

Methodological Problems with the Academic Sources of Popular Psychology Context Inference and Measurementreviews these issues extensively offering both a sense of the history and pervasiveness of these issues in the field itself and an opportunity to review and master these difficult ideas

Self-science Karen Stone-McCown, Joshua M. Freedman, Anabel L. Jensen, Marsha C. Rideout, 1998 Self Science is a curriculum and a process for teaching social and emotional skills It is a flexible framework where students do activities or experiments that lead to discussion and learning The students own experiences concerns and questions drive the content so the process works with people from all kinds of backgrounds all ages and all levels Self Science fuses cognitive and affective learning students build feeling and thinking skills at the same time Rather than telling children what not to do Self Science provides multiple options of what to do It helps children become more aware of themselves and make more conscious decisions about the ways they think feel and act independently and interdependently Nationally and internationally parents and teachers are increasingly concerned about school culture and emotional intelligence competencies Issues of exclusion violence depression and under achievement are all addressed within this preventative comprehensive program Self Science so named because emotional intelligence grows from the study of ourselves and our relationships is one of the few comprehensive developmental and research based curricula for creating a school wide culture of emotional intelligence The Self Science program creates a fundamental shift in the structure of the school toward collaboration inclusion and humanism Part of the power of Self Science is its flexibility Once a facilitator understands how a lesson flows she or he can easily adapt any current topics other exercises and even academic subject matter into the lessons In addition Self Science can be taught as a stand alone class or folded into existing programs such as class meetings advisory life skills or community service
