Abstract:

Comparative politics is a field in political science, characterized by an empirical approach based on the comparative method. In other words, comparative politics is the study of the domestic politics, political institutions, and conflicts of countries. It often involves comparisons among countries and through time within single countries, emphasizing key patterns of similarity and difference. Arend Lijphart argues that comparative politics does not have a substantive focus in itself, but rather a methodological one: it focuses on "the how but does not specify the what of the analysis."

Key Words:

Dissatisfaction, traditional, approach, scope, Comparative, Government, comprehensives, unrealistic, nature, unscientific, methodology, several, political systems, Asia, Africa, capable, organization, political institutions, new states, Realism, Precision, development, of Comparative Politics, Several, developments, post-war era, explaining, similarities, differences, explicitly, implicitly, Methodologically, comparison, distinguished, applicable.

Introduction:

In other words, comparative politics is not defined by the object of its study, but rather by the method it applies to study political phenomena. Peter Mair and Richard Rose advance a slightly different definition, arguing that comparative politics is defined by a combination of a substantive focus on the study of
