The Lost Continent Edgar Rice Burroughs, 2020-11-11 What could it mean I had left Alvarez in command He was my most loyal subordinate It was absolutely beyond the pale of possibility that Alvarez should desert me No there was some other explanation Something occurred to place my second officer Porfirio Johnson in command I was sure of it but why speculate The futility of conjecture was only too palpable The Coldwater had abandoned us in mid-ocean Doubtless none of us would survive to know why The young man at the wheel of the power boat had turned her nose about as it became evident that the ship intended passing over us and now he still held her in futile pursuit of the Coldwater Bring her about Snider I directed and hold her due east We can't catch the Coldwater and we can't cross the Atlantic in this Our only hope lies in making the nearest land which unless I am mistaken is the Scilly Islands off the southwest coast of England Ever heard of England Snider There's a part of the United States of North America that used to be known to the ancients as New England he replied Is that where you mean sir No Snider I replied The England I refer to was an island off the continent of Europe It was the seat of a very powerful kingdom that flourished over two hundred years ago A part of the United States of North America and all of the Federated States of Canada once belonged to this ancient England Europe breathed one of the men his voice tense with excitement My grandfather used to tell me stories of the world beyond thirty He had been a great student and he had read much from forbidden books In which I resemble your grandfather I said for I too have read more even than naval officers are supposed to read and as you men know we are permitted a greater latitude in the study of geography and history than men of other professions Among the books and papers of Admiral Porter Turck who lived two hundred years ago and from whom I am descended many volumes still exist and are in my possession which deal with the history and geography of ancient Europe Usually I bring several of these books with me upon a cruise and this time among others I have maps of Europe and her surrounding waters I was studying them as we came away from the Coldwater this morning and luckily I have them with me You are going to try to make Europe sir asked Taylor the young man who had last spoke tobacco ashes It ll get worse if we leave it We ve a lot more bad scrambling ahead of us That was obvious So we sat down beside the stream there at the bottom of the barranca and ate up all of what was left It was a ten mile tramp to the fonda at Santa Brigida where we had set down our traps and as Coppinger wanted to take a lot more photographs and measurements before we left this particular group of caves it was likely we should be pretty sharp set before we got our next meal and our next taste of the PATRON S splendid old country wine My faith If only they knew down in the English hotels in Las Palmas what magnificent wines one could get with diplomacy up in some of the mountain villages the old vintage would become a thing of the past in a week
