Understanding Language Acquisition:

Understanding Child Language Acquisition Caroline Rowland,2013-10-23 Taking an accessible and cross linguistic approach Understanding Child Language Acquisition introduces readers to the most important research on child language acquisition over the last fifty years as well as to some of the most influential theories in the field Rather than just describing what children can do at different ages Rowland explains why these research findings are important and what they tell us about how children acquire language Key features include Cross linguistic analysis of how language acquisition differs between languages A chapter on how multilingual children acquire several languages at once Exercises to test comprehension Chapters organised around key questions that summarise the critical issues posed by researchers in the field with summaries at the end Further reading suggestions to broaden understanding of the subject With its particular focus on outlining key similarities and differences across languages and what this cross linguistic variation means for our ideas about language acquisition Understanding Child Language Acquisition forms a comprehensive introduction to the subject for students of linguistics psychology and speech and language therapy Students and instructors will benefit from the comprehensive companion website that includes a students section featuring interactive comprehension exercises extension activities chapter recaps and answers to the exercises within the book Material for instructors includes sample essay questions answers to the extension activities for students and a Powerpoint including all the figures from the book www routledge com cw rowland     Understanding Language Acquisition Christina E. Erneling,1993-01-01 How is language acquisition possible How is it that humans within a few years of birth can speak and understand language transcending both its limited experience and biological limitations In this challenge to the narrow confines of psychology and philosophy Christina Erneling argues that language acquisition results from the interaction between linguistic creativity inherent in language and a biological and social framework of learning Erneling explains and critically analyzes the idea that language acquisition requires a meaningful language of thought contrasting this with Wittgenstein s ideas on language and learning Erneling shows that the assumptions in J Fodor s development of Chomky s ideas into a theory of language of thought have significantly influenced developmental theories yet fail to resolve the conflict between linguistic creativity and the necessity of a framework for learning She argues that the later Wittgenstein was more concerned with the conditions of learning than is generally appreciated and shows how his remarks can be developed into an alternative approach to language learning Understanding Language Acquisition has profound implications for evaluating hidden metatheoretical assumptions as well as for empirical research and methods for teaching language and treating language disorders     Understanding Second Language Acquisition Lourdes Ortega,2015-09-03 This is a cutting edge yet accessible introduction to Second Language Acquisition It covers concepts themes goals research problems methods theories and new directions     Understanding Second Language Acquisition 2nd Edition Rod Ellis,2015-10-26 In the 30 years since Rod Ellis first published the award

Johnson,1999 Drawing from seminal foundational texts and from critical commentaries made by various scholars the author examines the profession s transition from method to postmethod and in the process elucidates the relationship between theory research and practice This book is intended for teacher educators practicing teachers and graduate students      Language Acquisition and Conceptual Development Melissa Bowerman,Stephen C. Levinson,2001-01-11 Recent years have seen a revolution in our knowledge of how children learn to think and speak In this volume leading scholars from these rapidly evolving fields of research examine the relationship between child language acquisition and cognitive development At first sight advances in the two areas seem to have moved in opposing directions the study of language acquisition has been especially concerned with diversity explaining how children learn languages of widely different types while the study of cognitive development has focused on uniformity clarifying how children build on fundamental presumably universal concepts This book brings these two vital strands of investigation into close dialogue suggesting a synthesis in which the process of language acquisition may interact with early cognitive development It provides empirical contributions based on a variety of languages populations and ages and theoretical discussions that cut across the disciplines of psychology linguistics and anthropology    Overregularization in Language Acquisition Gary F. Marcus,1992    First Language Acquisition Barbara Lust,Claire Foley,2004-01-16 First Language Acquisition The Essential Readings is a collection of pioneering classics that provide a framework for understanding current work in each of the basic areas of language acquisition morphology phonology syntax semantics and pragmatics Collects classic works that provide the foundation for current research in the field of first language acquisition Includes selections from Noam Chomsky Jean Piaget Eric Lenneberg and Roman Jakobson as well as others who contributed groundbreaking discoveries insights concepts and methods Presents framework for understanding current work in each of the basic areas of language acquisition morphology phonology syntax semantics and pragmatics Provides valuable resource for students and scholars of language acquisition cognitive development and cognitive science    Papers on Language Acquisition, Language Learning, and Language Teaching Henning Wode,1983 This volume brings together a number of papers dealing with various aspects of the study of language acquisition and language learning The intention is to overcome barriers imposed by restrictions in the accessibility of both publishing sources journals conference reports working papers as well as languages Therefore all papers are in English Those originally written in German have been translated The papers originated between 1970 and 1980 They derive from long term investigations which began 1968 at the University of Freiburg and which were continued since 1969 at the University of Kiel The essential theme is the nature of man s language learning system i e the ability which allows human beings to learn and to be taught natural languages This ability is unique to human beings it is species specific and very likely biologically endowed i e innate One of the major concerns throughout these papers is to show that learning a foreign language in the classroom via foreign language teaching is by no means totally different from mastering a language in natural situations Foreign language teaching must be integrated into a comprehensive view of language learning which includes all types of language acquisition    American Annals of the Deaf ,1893    First and Second Language Acquisition Processes Carol Wollman Pfaff,1987    Language Acquisition Problems and Reading Disorders Hannelore Grimm,Helmut Skowronek,1993 No detailed description available for Language acquisition problems and reading disorders    Input Processing and Grammar Instruction in Second Language Acquisition Bill VanPatten,1996 This book provides an alternative to the grammar debate in second language acquisition theory and teaching Accepting that language acquisition is at least partially input dependent the author asks how grammatical form is processed in the input by second language learners and is it possible to assist this in ways that help the learner to create richer grammatical intake He answers these questions and explains why traditional paradigms are not psycholinguistically motivated Drawing on research from both first and second language acquisition he outlines a model for input processing in second language acquisition that helps to account for how learners construct grammatical systems He then uses this model to motivate processing instruction a type of grammar instruction in which learners are engaged in making form meaning connections during particular input activities Linguistic Theory and Adult Second Language Acquisition Carolina Plaza Pust,2000 General considerations as regards the human language faculty come into play when analysing adult second language acquisition Grammar as conceived in the Principles and Parameters theory is a modularly organised system which relies on both the autonomy and the inter relation of its subcomponents One such inter relation lies at the heart of this study namely the relation between the lexicon and the syntax Following current assumptions it is expected that the acquisition of functional categories plays a crucial role in grammar development However it is a matter of debate whether language acquisition in adulthood relies on the same learning mechanisms as in childhood The critical evaluation of this controversy leads to the conclusion that traditional learning concepts need to be revised in more dynamic terms The dynamic approach proposed is applied in the investigation of the intra individual variation in adult L2 German The Proceedings of the … Annual Child Language Research Forum ,1993 Language Acquisition of a Bilingual Child Alvino E. Fantini,1985 This book is a sociolinguistic analysis of language acquisition based on the longitudinal observation of one child bilingual in Spanish and English The Bilingual Special Education Perspective ,1989 Understanding the Whole Student Clifford Mayes,2007 Understanding the Whole Student presents a holistic approach to multicultural educational issues by viewing them in terms of the student as a physical psychosocial cognitive ethical and spiritual being Conversely these levels of a student s being cannot be seen apart from the student s cultural identities This unique book demonstrates that in a pluralistic democracy good teaching and deep learning must be multicultural and must look at the student as a whole being not just as a future worker in a transnational corporate economy as is currently the case with both neo liberal and neo conservative programs for reform The authors contend that good education is and must be multicultural in order to gain a deeper perspective on issues under analysis in the classroom through the sharing and negotiating of many different cultural perspectives
